MINISTERS TALK
Ambassadors Delay Action to See if Italy Will Accept Mediation.

FALCONO, KING.—The League of Nations is not used in a crisis, such as the present Greco-Italian one, then it could have to be dissolved and a new League be faced with the old state of things that existed before the World war, with competition in armaments and preparation for a new war. It would be a long run a general war far worse than the last, Viscount Grey asserted in an address today.

LEAGUE COUNCIL PUTS OFF DECISION ON ISSUE OF ASSOCIATION.

Genova.—The council of the League of Nations decided to hold no meeting today. It was also agreed that the scheduled session of the assembly would be postponed. The controlling reason being a desire to avoid dangerous discussions at a time when the Italian government still the council has seen no light as to its duty in the Greco-Italian negotiations, and is able to make no definite statement. The council yesterday postponed decision on the question of the league's competence to intervene in the Italian-Greek dispute, and decided to forward to the ministers of its discussions to the council of ambassadors in Paris, thus in effect submitting the matter to the latter.

AMBASSADORS WAITING TO FIND OUT ITALY'S STANCE
(By Associated Press)

Paris. The inter-allied council of ambassadors, after a lengthy session this morning, adjourned without making any decision on the Greek-Italian dispute after noon to await definite word whether Italy is prepared to accept the Italian position in the council in the Greek-Italian dispute.

This morning the ambassadors discussed the advisability of sending a commission to the scene of the massacre of the Italian boundary mission in the coastal zone.

The French government favors attempting to settle the Italo-Greek question by every possible means before appeal is made to the League of Nations and thinks the ambassadors' council the most authoritative body.

EXPLOSIVE BULLETS USED

The occupation by Italy of Paxos and several "very small" islands near Corfu was announced. The occupation had been reported Sept.

BARRON PROFITS HIGHWAY HEARINGS FROM T. B. TEST SLATED IN STATE

Retesting Northern County—Find but Few Reacting Cattle.

Little Lake, Wis.—Barron county is in the midst of retesting for bovine tuberculosis under the plan, and within two months will be through with this big job for the department. There are a few reactors showing up and being sent the way of their kind, but in general the county is clean. Less than two-thirds of 1 percent of reactors have been found in 132 herds of 19,533 head retested.

Little opposition is encountered, as Barron county farmers and breeders are fully sold on the dollars and cents merit of area testing and want and intend to keep their herds clean.

Disease-free cattle have long been one of the chief aims of the Barron county breeder, who long before the area plan was under way had largely availed themselves of the test and used the accredited herds. When area testing was decided upon over two years ago and the drive went on, Barron county already had 665 accredited herds of purebred Holsteins, Guernseys and other breeds, mostly dairy.

Retesting is under the direction of a federal veterinary inspector and a corps of 13 state inspectors under the direction of Dr. A. T. Olson. Barron county breeders have been well paid for cleaning up. Today the bulk of the cattle buyers from Montana, Dakota and other parts of the northwest, which are heavy and constant buyers of dairy cattle for stock-raising up the farm of those states, stop in northwestern Wisconsin, and especially in this county, instead of going on to their old markets farther down.

Increased Values
A check on prices shows that there is a difference of some 25 per cent in favor of the tested counties. In some instances the breeding industry in the infected territory is much older and of greater former prestige, as well as on purebred stuff, this difference is fairly constant and is attributed entirely to freedom from tuberculosis.

Barron county breeders back their own belief in their own business, and at the county seat at Barron is found a sale pavilion and assembling barn such as few counties possess and which would be the envy of many a state fair. It was built four years ago by John H. Peterson, a large farmer and business man of the county. It is made of brick, is well equipped inside with stanchions and pens for accommodating a large number of cattle, and has a good sale and show ring. It cost $18,000 and is paid for except $5,000.

About three carloads a month of high grade and purebred dairy cattle are shipped out of Barron. Breeders of the county are determined to maintain the lead they have secured in freeing their herds of disease.

Start Extensive Improvements at St. John's Church

St. John's Lutheran church will be closed for the next three weeks while extensive renovation and redecoration work is being done under the direction of C. A. Christenson, Milwaukee, and a local contractor. Many of the leading church buildings in this section of the country. Besides the new interior decorations, a ventilation system will be installed and other minor changes made, such as to make this church building, erected in 1913, one of the most modern in the state.

The Rev. S. W. Fuchs, pastor of the church, announces that only one service will be held the coming Sunday and that will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. in the basement of the church. On the following two Sundays, no services will be held.

St. John's church is located at the corner of North Bluff street and Essex court, a new bell was recently installed in its tower.

TON LITERS WILL SHOW OCT. 24-26

The final showdown in the Wisconsin ton-litter contest will come at the Junior Livestock exposition in Madison this fall—Oct. 24-26. Buffalo counties with 13 liters remaining of 18 entries still leads in the number of heavy liters, from any one county. Grant county has eight; Jefferson, five; Washington, four. The Dane county ton-litter contest was won on Oct. 10 by a cow owned by John T. O'Brien, Edward Schroeder, with a litter of 10 Durocs, won in Sheboygan county; E. C. Boehlhold, with 10 Jerseys, won the Green county contest.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville — It seems to be definitely settled which way route 20 will approach and pass Orfordville. A force of state men were in the locality a day or two ago and identified property holders that the route across the marsh had been accepted by the State Commission and that the two western courses will be along the north village limits with the probability that it will continue on this line till at a point west of town it will approach the railroad track and continue along the line to the highway at the Dickey crossing. Representatives from the state university were here Monday inspecting the tobacco field of Nelson Bracken. The crop is of the Silver-leaf variety, which is quite scarce. The university men remarked that it was the only crop of the kind they had seen. Charles Taylor left Thursday afternoon for Fond du Lac where he is attending the annual conference of the Methodist church, as lay delegate from the churches of Orfordville and Plymouth. He expects to remain over Sunday. Theodore Masten has engaged with the G. Clemens and Son Co. to have a second car load of poles were received for the local telephone company Wednesday. They are installing another new engine in the condenser and making other extensive improvements.

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% less oil and 6% common kerosene (con oil).

The inventor, F. D. Johnson, 509 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

"We'll get along faster." "She sat down." Mrs. Bedell had not been locked up. The Janesville police chief said his all hearings are completed. "Very much pleased" that Stein had hit him. "The chief said he then interjected each of the parties separately and that when he spoke to Worthington he noticed he was covered with blood, his shirt and neck, and saw the cut on the back of his head.

"He told me that he and some friends had started out for a ride and went to Clinton and returned to Beloit. He said something about his son and coming to Janesville for dinner. I questioned him as to drinking and he said he had got some liquor in Beloit and had had a couple of drinks. He said that somebody had accused him of brushing their car and that he didn't remember having done so.

"I talked with Bedell, who was cool and calm. I got Dickinson's story, which is about as he gave it. Although not so much in detail, Morrissey said that Stein was crazy or off his nut."

Chief Newman declared that he could find no reason for Stein striking Worthington a second time and that when he applied to Stein, the officer had said, "Just my head and got mad."

He complained about his teeth and said he didn't know who struck him. Chief Newman testified. "I told him about having told him before to deliver his prisoners and then leave and that I wouldn't stand for beating up people. That was when I suspended him."

"Well, I don't blame you, I lost my head," Stein said. "I was suspended as saying when he was suspended. Questioned as to whether he had any feeling of prejudice against Stein, he said, "No, I don't. I don't think I've got a better friend in Janesville."

He maintained that he was justified in suspending Stein to what was questioned by District Attorney Dunwiddie.

Worthington and Bedell. Airing to answer the question of Judge Maxfield as to whether they wished to have Mr. Worthington and Mr. Bedell testify, Attorney Mount declared that it seems to me now, I can say, your honor, so far as the facts of the street is concerned, that the court would not be justified in anything more than was done so far as what occurred in the station. I am willing to accept the statements of Officers Dickinson, Ford and Morrissey. It would be putting indignity on the situation that the facts don't warrant. The inquiry can well afford to rest here.

The only question that can possibly be asked is whether Stein should be permanently removed from the force. He is a dangerous man. That's something that can't be determined here. We have had the word of Attorney Mount, that the state is concerned brought out and should Mr. Worthington and Mr. Bedell testify, human indignities would be made to make it stronger in their favor."

Mount willing to stop. He again stated that it was to protect woman's name that the two men pleaded guilty and affirmed his belief that acquittal would have followed a trial, and that the investigation was shown that there couldn't possibly be any other charge.

"I ask to have the matter ended."

had been convinced that no other conviction than on a charge of plain drunk could be secured. He pointed out that in order to uphold a charge of resisting an officer, the officer must be doing his duty and that Patrick Stein was not doing his duty when the trouble with Worthington and Bedell occurred in the police station.

"If the court sincerely and honestly thinks that any further charge should be prosecuted I shall do so or be glad to have others prosecute the case," said Mr. Dunwiddie. "As a sporting proposition, if Mr. Nolan, as Mr. Bliss' attorney, thinks so and will stand up and say so here now we'll go ahead."

"I refuse to incriminate myself," said Mr. Nolan.

Continuing, Mr. Dunwiddie said that his policy had been to support the police and that he had talked with Chief Newman and Stein and they had preferred to have the case handled "in that way"—referring to the finding of a plain drunk charge.

He referred to published editorials of the Gazette in reference to the case as "either deliberate or ignorant misstatements of law and fact."

Judge Maxfield asked if any in the court had information concerning the Worthington-Bedell case or knew of any other violations of law. No one came forward or spoke.

"If not this investigation is adjourned sine die," and with a rap of the gavel, Judge Maxfield closed the hearing, refusing to make a statement of his conclusions.

MINERS DEBATING COMPROMISE PLAN

Pinchot Proposal Practically Accepted by Operators; Await Labor Move.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Harrisburg, Pa.,—Miners' union leaders went into session today with delegates of their organization, determining to recommend a course which may end the suspension of mining. For the moment, the decision is down to the miners' organization. Governor Pinchot's peace proposals, accepted practically in full by the operators, up to today had failed to secure complete assent of the union men who continued to ask a wage increase greater than the percent for the 100,000 coal workers, and for the installation of the "check-off" system of dues collection. When the scale committee of delegates from the district went into session, some compromise of the full demand was being framed, however.

In an address before the union's convention today, she urged women to vote for prohibition.

The Thin Line of Blue.

Ten thousand members of the Grand Army of the Republic have crossed the river and are resting in the shade of the trees, during the last year. Seventy-six thousand still remain in the ranks. The commander says there will be another ten years for the organization. When it may be remembered that the men who wore the blue have been out of service for 58 years the age of the survivors may be arrived at with a feeling that all are going along on "borrowed time." There is hardly a member who is not over 75 and most of the men are from 77 to 90.
Age means nothing to some men and women.
Their powers are in no way abated and the vigor with which 10,000 of the boys who wore the blue marched in the last parade of the Grand Army at Milwaukee, is indicative of the strength still in the bodies of the soldiers of '61-'65.

It was a different grand army that marched along Pennsylvania avenue in Washington in 1885. In the first and last grand review of the Union armies. There were timid souls who felt that when these men, used to liberty and some license—these men who had been "Sherman's Bummers" and foraged off the enemy's preserves; these men who for four years had fought Lee from Bull Run to Appomattox—would be a disturbance, but forgot that they were Americans. They had preserved the union of states, they now proceeded to battle with the wilderness and erect a new empire in the west. These men moved ahead of or with the lines of steel penetrating the prairies and mountains and made new states and added millions to the national wealth.

They made the flag with its 48 stars possible and that is glory enough. Maybe the line of blue is thinning; maybe we shall know it no longer ten years hence, but the memory of the deeds and what they made possible for us will be imperishable. Every time we look at the blue field with its stars we will have paid tribute to the men who made that field possible.

Next summer it will be Janesville's pleasure to take care of the remnant of that line of blue.
The state encampment will be held here. And we will have the last opportunity, perhaps, to show how we feel about these survivors of a conflict which has meant so much to the world, in justice, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

You cannot arrive at a destination by side stepping.

A German Gesture.

Ludendorff, in a uniform of the past, drinking a cup of wine to a degenerate princeling of the Bavarian house, in front of a mob said to have numbered a half million Fascists, made a gesture which may mean a repudiation of the enthusiasm of the old days for the monarchy but which will be soon forgotten. It is only a gesture. The dead past has buried its dead. There is always a monarchial party when a republic is established. There was in France for years—there still is a party headed by the Orleans family—and every little while we have been told of plots for the enthronement of either the Bourbon or the Orleans princes. Yet France is solidly established as a republic and so, it seems, will Germany be. The Fascist does not recognize monarchy except as it appears as a part of the outward show. The Italian king is a liability and not an asset to Italy, yet Mussolini, the real ruler, would make a serious error in deposing the king. So the little, undersized Emmanuel is permitted to drive about and wear gorgeous uniforms and bow with perfect courtesy to the people. But as a ruler he has less power under Mussolini than a town supervisor in Wisconsin.
So it seems the German outburst, with Luden-dorff representing the old German army, is picturesque enough; but nevertheless it is not German.

Clothes may make the man but when it comes to women the manufacturer gets rather skimpy.

In the death of Congressman James Campbell Cantrill, of Kentucky, who has also been nominated for governor on the democratic ticket, the House of Representatives has lost a valuable member. But his death has precipitated a conflict within the democratic party in his own state which is likely to end in the election of a republican governor. The candidate against Cantrill in the democratic primary wants to be placed on the ticket but the committee refuses and as there will not be another primary, the split has widened since the serious and expected fall illness of the congressman. On such small things the party results rather than on real issues.

In regard to auto accidents we may not be a happy people but we are car free.

Chester Platt, spokesman of the nonpartisan league in Wisconsin, says that Comings and Blaine will be the only candidates in the progressive party for governor and that Comings will win. He has not heard from a pompous gentleman who is now touring the effects and crippled monarchies of Europe, concerning this, however, and it is well to wait before being too deeply convinced.

Germany, in accepting the bold fact that the passive resistance in the Ruhr has been a failure,

DO T. B.'S GET WELL?

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN Washington.—What chance has a T. B. to get well?

That question is asked every year by thousands of persons, and it gets thousands of different answers. Fourteen per cent of all the deaths in the United States from disease are caused by tuberculosis. It is the great unconquered foe of civilized man. But do not forget that every year thousands conquer it.

There is a town down in New Mexico called Albuquerque, which might be a museum exhibit to prove this point. For almost without exception, the leading citizens of that town, and a great many of the following citizens too, are what they call "reformed lungers." They came out, got well and stayed. Some of them got wholly well but did not want to go back east. In others, the disease became arrested so that they were able to work and play and enjoy life as well as anyone else, but could not safely go back to the east to live.

Many of these tuberculars who came to Albuquerque were men who would otherwise have taken important places in great cities. Naturally these men won success in the little town to which disease had brought them. Wherefore it has been called a town largely owned and operated by lungers. Nearly all of the bankers, the leading lawyers and doctors, nearly all of the newspaper folk are or have been T. B.'s. At the state university there are no active tuberculars on the faculty, but most of its members were either once lungers themselves or came to the state because members of their families had the disease. One of the best X-ray dentists in the United States is a citizen of Albuquerque, and so is one of the best tuberculosis specialists. There are many men and women who would otherwise have been successful in the big cities and in the states of local papers who won success in the big cities and had to give it up. Albuquerque has remarkably well-edited and well-written newspapers.

In addition to these "reformed lungers," there are usually at least 2,000 active tuberculars in the town. For these the city has a number of sanitariums of all grades from those which take charity patients to those that charge a hundred dollars a week. These patients probably bring more money to the town than any of its industries and businesses. And the town makes them welcome. It knows that its brilliant sunlight is instant death to germs. It is not afraid of infection, for the excellent reason that people living in Albuquerque very seldom contract the disease. Albuquerque knows that tuberculosis not only brings it millions of dollars, but also brains and personalities that it would not otherwise get.
It is not averse to being known as a sick man's land. On the contrary, it is eager to be known to all the world as a place where T. B.'s are welcomed and where they get well.

Should anyone infected with tuberculosis, then, make immediately for the southwest? The answer is, "yes," provided he has means of support and provided he can get as good care and food in the west as he could at home. But he should not go west without funds, expecting to make a living and get well at the same time.
Necessarily, the demand for jobs suitable for tuberculars in Albuquerque always exceeds the supply. The city and various organizations within it spend large sums every year for the support of indigent tuberculars, and there are always more than they can care for.

And this is true of all the western cities which have become famous as resorts for tuberculars.
It should be remembered, therefore, that doctors agree that rest and proper care are more important than climate. One eminent specialist told the writer that he thought a tubercular patient had a far better chance of recovery in the southwest than in the east. But the doctor says that no one should leave a home where he can rest in the east for a hard struggle to make a living in the west. If he has the means to support himself, however modestly, in the west, he should go.

There are persons who do succeed in making a living and getting well at the same time, but they are exceptions. Nearly all of the drivers of delivery wagons, laundry and milk wagons in the "well country" of T. B.'s and all such jobs, which afford a living at light outdoor work, are gently in demand.

In sharp contrast with the poor T. B., hereditarily struggling to make a living and conquer a deadly disease at the same time, is the wealthy T. B., whose great problem is, how to put in his time while the climate is doing his work. Sometimes he faces a problem almost as difficult as that of the poor patient. Many a wealthy young man, who is not willing to do but think about his lungs, has destroyed his chances of recovery by dissipation. The wisest of these wealthy patients provide themselves with regular work and stick to it just as long and as faithfully as they are able.

A millionaire shoe manufacturer who came to Albuquerque for tuberculosis set himself up in business as a repairer of shoes. He fitted up a shop with every repair device known to man.
He called for and delivered his shoes in a Packard car. It is not recorded that he made a profit or his operations, but he did good work and made his deliveries on time.

Another rich luger, who was a stock broker, bought a farm and began raising apples— is raising them yet, for that matter, and getting well at it. He has become deeply and genuinely interested in his battle against worms and blights and all of the other things that menace the welfare of growing apples. He says he never allows himself to spend on his orchard in a given year more than $10,000 in excess of what he makes out of it.

How does climate fight the bugs? In the first place, sunlight kills them, so there are far fewer bacteria in the air in this sun-drenched country.
More ravaged air gives a fuller inhalation of the lungs and dry air facilitates the elimination of puscles from them. The number of red corpuscles in the blood increases, making it thicker and more nourishing. The lymphocytes in the blood increase in number. These are the germ destroyers that fight the tubercle bacilli. There is increased metabolism at high altitudes, the patient assimilating more protein than he does at sea level.

It is hard to predict how much good a change of climate will do in a given case. Often the effects described above, work a cure that seems almost marvellous. Often the patient considers himself wholly cured and plunges into work again, with the result that he has a second breakdown worse than the first. This is observed again and again. The tubercular patient must have patience. He must be prepared to treat himself as an invalid for years. But if he has patience and courage and a means of getting a livelihood without competing himself, there is no reason why he should not conquer the bugs and become a member in good standing of the great fraternity of Reformed Lungers.

Is at the threshold of a new economic policy that can hardly fail to bring about an eventual peace with France over reparations.

With a peaceful government and the development of her natural resources, Mexico is sure to be the most important of the Latin-American nations of the Western hemisphere. If she but knew it, Mexico is on the eve of a great era of prosperity.

If the public should strike against hard coal the miners and operators would have everything settled in no time.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
RIGHTING A WRONG.

There is a cedar cottage next door,
Quiet and lovely and old,
And the logs still carry the bark they wore
When they were young and bold,
And the children who dwell there know that they Must never tear bits of that bark away.

Last night the father and mother stood
By the side of the porch and frowned—
One of the logs was bare to the wood,
There were threadlike wisps on the ground.
"We didn't do it," the children said,
And for that "untruth" they were sent to bed.

I can see that porch through my window pane
As I sit at my desk to write,
And this morning I saw, and I can explain Those two little logs were right.
"We didn't do it," I'll pledge those words;
That havoc was wrought by two busy birds.

I watched them carry that bark away
Strip by strip to their tree,
Doing their work at the break of day,
Thinking that some would see.
And I thought of the children wronged last night.

And that is the reason these lines I write.

I shall show them the nest in the maple tree,
I shall tell them the things I've seen.
I shall set those punished children free
And wash their records clean.
And I'll say "It is true as your children said:
You should have sent two little birds to bed."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOUTON.

Iowa court has decided that $100 is too much for a woman to pay for a hat. Sure thing! Let her husband pay it.

The annual coal famine is on the way. Even though it falls to get here, we can enjoy all the thrills of anticipation.

We often wonder what has become of the old fashioned business man who used to discount all his bills.

They are now going to build automobiles with all the accessories installed. But it will take a powerful engine to run all the accessories and the car at the same time.

Omaha burglars are taking revolvers away from policemen. It is a good thing for policemen that burglars have no use for their uniforms.

New York attorney, returning from a tour of the world, tells of having discovered, in the French Indo-China, a race of people with a vocabulary of only 500 words. But you don't go away from your own town to find a lot of people like that.

Who's Who Today

PRINCE HIROHITO.

Is ill fortune haunting the royal house of Japan? Tomorrow the clouds for a young man, forced by illness when virtually a young man, to turn over the reins of government to his son, Prince Hirohito, through a regency. Now the prince has just escaped death in the earthquake and fire which swept Tokyo.

He and other members of the royal family were in the imperial palace, when the quake came. The palace was partially destroyed, the prince narrowly escaping death. He fled to return latter, only to suffer another narrow escape, when a bomb burst forth, according to an eye witness of the Tokyo quake.

The crown prince is not yet twenty-three. He was born April 29, 1901. Following the custom of the imperial family, he has been educated both in the army and the navy, holding the military rank of second lieutenant and the naval rank of sub-lieutenant of the second class. His younger brothers are Prince Yasuhito and Prince Nobuhito.

Prince Hirohito has traveled through Europe and has assimilated the influence of western civilization.
His love of the dazle of uniforms and the gleam of bayonets in the sun is pointed out by observers as an indication of the possible policy he will adopt when he is mikado.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1903.—The Janesville Traction company has decided not to take the 35-year franchise offered by the city to extend the interurban road to Madison, claiming the cost of construction is too great for a franchise of so few years.
Five Hundred people are in Beloit today, attending the Labor day celebration.

TEN YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1913.—There is practically four million dollar increase in the assessed valuation of the county this year. The burden will be harder

Personal Health Service

Noted Physician and Author

TRYING TO ENJOY POOR HEALTH

Keep a dog in the house nosing the ground, and you will find him enough to maintain two dogs, yet never permit him to chase even a cat, and before long your dog is spoiled. Or feed the horse well; keep him in the stable most of the time, and when you do ride out make it as short as possible, and in a little while your horse is ruined.

Two reasons why Theodore Roosevelt was universally loved were the nondescript old hat he usually wore and the fact that he did not consider sweating vulgar.

In the numerous cases of hoop skirts, waist, waders, straight and fainting damocles, sprained ankles and dilute lambskins, the bon tons took considerable "carriage exercise" when they were laid up with gout.
A good many motorists harbor a similar delusion. A fat woman who appeared for reduction advice the other day declared that she got out of the habit of driving her car. That's really recreation and rest. Pumping up tires and filling the greasecocks and washing the bus are exercises.

Exercise the dog, not make you warm around the collar and start the sweat is not likely to do you much good. The perspiration carries no appreciable poison, and the heat from the body as the diaphanous would have it, but the degree of exertion required to produce the perspiration has a wholesome influence on the system. The exhaustion of the system, the destruction of waste matter in the blood.

Some people who religiously avoid exercise try to substitute in the way of exercise, walking is worth all it costs for anybody.

Better but Harmless Solution Please suggest some solution which is very bitter to the taste but harmless otherwise. I have the dreadful habit of biting my fingernails unconsciously when in a nervous state of mind. They are short and pointed and would remind me and perhaps break the habit.—L. G.

Answer.—A solution made by steeping quassia chips in water, and you would make tea, is very bitter and harmless. Better than such a method, however, is having the nails carefully manicured by an expert manicurist every third day for a few weeks. This removes the sharp point of the nail which causes the unconscious attempts at manicuring with your teeth.

Is there a method to remove talloos marks from the arm? They cause me such embarrassment when I have to roll up my sleeves in the presence of people.—W. B. F.

Answer.—How should prohibit tattooing of the human body except for the purpose of showing religious signs.
No mutilation can be removed only by excision of the skin by the surgeon, perhaps transplantation grafting of some skin to fill the defect.

vice.)

Q. How can lightning be collected from the clouds for experimental purposes? W. M.

A. The bureau of standards says that a kite can be used to collect lightning. The kite should be made of string in making it, and preferably a wire for the kite string. A kite string of a wire, however, is a dangerous thing to have in the hand. It should be made of a material which is not a conductor of electricity. Do not hold the string in your hand. It may be held through a silk ribbon, several feet long, with a handle at the end. Attach condensers to the end of the string, the other end being grounded.
This experiment first attempted by Benjamin Franklin, is a dangerous one.

Q. What is a meander line?

A. A meander line is usually terminated by a boundary line—but one following approximately the outline of a piece of land with inaccessible boundaries.

Q. When and where was the first asphalt road laid in this country?

A. W. M. The American Highway Engineers' Handbook says that the asphalt road which was built in 1879 in front of the city hall, Newark, N. J., is the first. It was made of the asphalt road. However, asphalt is a developed type of pavement and in 1867 one of the earliest roads was laid with a binder of bitumen. At the beginning of the type now called asphalt. This road was built at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Q. Is there a copy of the "John Edison" Shakespeare's works in Washington? D. A.

A. Such a book is exhibited in the library of congress.

Q. What is the instrument that measures the altitude degree of heav? J. R. M.

A. The barometer is a heat-measuring device, and a delicate instrument that will record the millibar of a degree of temperature.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

THE CHICAGO semi-professional baseball league is in the throes of a war. The "Big Four" of the Yoyots, Normals, Logan Squares and the Negro American Giants, are off to one side with 10 other clubs breaking in to the outside. "Billy" Nelson is in control of the "Big Four" and has been leader of the others until they quit his alleged dictatorial methods and have been with him since. It was the same sort of policy that caused the split in the Chicago Midwest league last summer and the withdrawal of four clubs. The latter formed the Midwest circuit. At the bottom of it is the desire of the leaders to play the game, not for the sport, but to run the public. As much as the fans will stand, here is trouble also in the Midwest league and there is possibility of a change coming before next summer with a reorganization of the clubs composing the league.

ORGANIZED baseball is very careful these days of impressions that the public will derive from actions of owners, managers or players. The old White Sox scandal still lives in memory. They are sharply on the least chance of doubt in the mind of Mr. Common Man. This has reference to the fact that Charles E. Stoneham, manager of the White Sox, was recently indicted in the drive against bucket shops in New York. Major league officials are very anxious to see Stoneham out of the game. So long as he remains in it, so goes the impression, the public will have its suspicion aroused.

CHARLIE BICK, the "Smiling Gentleman" of the Janesville Boosters baseball team, is off to Campion Academy. Every fan of Janesville and all followers of the southern Wisconsin home talent league will wish "Bick" to succeed in this new field. When Bick joined the Janesville team, he was shaky about appearing in that class of baseball. He held his head and let nobody know of his fears until he had made a showing on the mound and then spoke of it only in a quiet way. With that kind of a show, he should make a good show in scholastic circles. He will be under a good pitching coach at Campion. Good luck, Charlie.

In the other game, Cincinnati, who were idle, defeated Philadelphia 3-1, in five inning game, which was cut off by rain.

Purchase price not announced, but according to Secretary Tierney of Glants, it was close to $50,000. John "Spider" Miller, 12 year old member of major league and until recently manager of San Francisco club of Pacific coast league, is dead at Saratoga Lake, N. Y., from cancer.

Member of pennant-winning Pittsburgh Nationals in 1908, when they defeated Detroit in world's series. Five years later he went to Philadelphia and later to Philadelphia National, ending major league career in 1921. Glants purchased Pitcher Greenfield and Outfielder Wilson from Portsmouth club of Virginia league. Players report at close of Virginia league season, Saturday, Ed. Rommel turned one of his good games for Philadelphia and Boston Americans took short end, 6-2. Tommell invincible except in one inning when his opponents counted twice.

70 Lads Answer Call for H. S. Grid Candidates

Copyright 1920, by Geo. McManus

INTEREST IN GAME TAKES HUGE JUMP; PRACTICE FRIDAY

Seventy boys answered the first call for football candidates at Janesville high school and went through the physical examination on Thursday. It was announced by Coach "Corny" Gibson, A. I. but two were given the physician's O. K. Equipment was given out to a large number of the lads Thursday, including some of the new uniforms. The unusual response caused a lack of grid clothing for all, but this problem is expected to be taken care of shortly.

Interest in athletics has taken a big jump at the Janesville institution with the coming of the former University of Wisconsin football star as director. Release of boys from gym classes if they will take up football also helped swell the number who want to get into the game.

First practice will be held on the high school grounds Friday afternoon. It will be light, but Gibson says: "They'll know what they're getting out of it by Saturday morning that they have been doing something."

The first week or so of workouts will be comparatively easy, the youngsters will then be increased gradually until the boys are conditioned.

The schedule of games will be ready for publication in the near future, as announced, two preliminary contests are yet to be closed.

Home Town Sport Proved Practical Say League Heads

Port (Janesville)—Proposal to keep the southern Wisconsin home talent baseball league intact by holding banquet during the winter was made at a spread of the civic club Thursday when Otto Eyer, vice-president, and favorably received. Forty attended. The banquet was prepared and served by the women's auxiliary of the local American Legion.

Striking the same note as other speakers who followed, Eyer declared the smaller cities are coming to realize when competitive athletics for home town folks will be the thing with a paid director at the head. Friendly rivalry between towns and happy social life for the citizens of the same and other towns will be further generated, he said.

Edward H. (Gibby) Gibson, former star athlete at the University of Wisconsin and athletic director at Janesville High school, speaking on the value of amateur sports, told the gathering they are on the verge of a game between Janesville and Port Atkinson, some years ago. Catcher Hornick of the Port team, who was a star, was a comparison and declared the league has given the southern end of the state honest baseball with great spirit among players and fans.

Other speakers were Frank Sinclair, sports editor of the Janesville Gazette and president of the league; Irving Roberts, manager of the Port team; P. M. Hallett, manager of the Janesville Boosters and secretary-treasurer of the league; Otto Wallace, Janesville manager; O. A. Eyer, Port manager; Capt. Miller, Port; "Lee" Fire, Janesville captain; and Charles Becker, umpire. Eyer was toastmaster.

Rain kept some players away.

Star of Center Coaches Carroll

Waukesha.—Coach N. Armstrong, former captain and star on the Center college football team that defeated Harvard university, looks for a strong team at Carroll college this season where he is entering upon his first year as coach.

Although eight players of the 1922 team graduated, Coach Armstrong expects a turn out of new material that will assure an eleven of strength for the present year. The school has a schedule of games that will bring its eleven in contact with many of the stronger college teams of the state.

B. Brey, a star on the team of last year's outfit, will captain the present year's outfit. He will have Ed. Beaver, Dan, from the 1922 regular squad to form the nucleus of the varsity. Two other promising men are Carl Schwager, Shavano, and Novarty Barn, Beaver Dam.

Hull to Shoot at Camp Perry

Ed. R. Hull of Milton Junction will leave Friday to compete in the national rifle tourney at Camp Perry, O. Hull, a member of the Janesville Rifle club, will take part in both rifle and pistol matches. He has been practicing on a 60-foot pistol and a 50 foot rifle range at the Junction. He expects to be gone two weeks.

CANTON TAKES TWO; PRESSING SIMMONS

Kenosha.—The Canton "Terminator" pushed up to within one-half game of the lead in the Midwest league pennant race Thursday, when they defeated the Simmons company team of Kenosha, present leaders, both ends of a double headed bat. The railroaders took the first game, 5 to 2, and the afterpiece 11 to 1.

BENNY DEFENDS CROWN AGAINST MENDELSON

Philadelphia.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and John Mendelson, who is primed for their eighth round no-decision bout at National league park Friday night, Leonard may be asked by the director of public safety to work in publicity because of recent contentions of overweights.

DENY ARMY ROOMS FOR JACK-TOM GO

San Francisco.—Use of the assembly quarters at the Hotel MacArthur, San Francisco, for a proposed 15 round fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Cribbens for benefit of disabled veterans has been denied by the war department.

BRINGING UP FATHER

YOUR HUSBAND PREVENTED ME FROM GETTING HERE FOR FOUR DAYS.

SO YOU ARE THE ONE WHO CAUSED THE COUNT'S DELAY?

AH! NOW I CAN PROCEED WITH HIS LESSONS.

YES, COUNT, SEE IF IT IS POSSIBLE TO TEACH HIM SOME MANNERS. I'VE GOT TO GO OUT.

NOW I WILL SHOW YOU THE PROPER WAY TO GO INTO A ROOM.

JUST A MINUTE.

I'LL SHOW YOU THE PROPER WAY TO GO OUT A WINDOW.

Hot Rivalry Will Spur Riders in Motor Races

Seven more defiers of Father Time and of death have entered the motorcycle races to be conducted on the fair grounds here Sunday afternoon by the Richard Ellis post of the American Legion, Janesville. The five events, ranging from five to 25 miles, will be held on the mile oval, starting at 2:30 p. m.

Five of the new riders are from semi-professional ranks at Madison. They are Ward Montgomery, Fred Melcher, John Engelberger and Joe Katz, guiding Harley-Davidsons, and Richard Evans on an Indian.

The other three are Ralph Hapburn and Jim Davis, both of Milwaukee, piloting Harleys.

The late corners make a total of 13 stellar performers on the two-wheeled gasoline apparatus.

Hapburn and Davis are ranked among the leaders of the nation. They will give the other competitors a stiff scrap for place.

With groups of riders from Janesville and from Milwaukee, spectators are assured grueling battles, legion officials predict. There is coming rivalry between the factions, gained in clashes in national meets, particularly last week at Kansas city. This is said to be certain of causing high finishes and high speed. Added to this the promised appearance of two Chicago straddlers and a classy program is due.

Will Use "One-Lungers"

The professional riders will use one cylinder machines for the events here. They can shoot these smooth running mounts to 97 miles an hour and handle them to the best advantage on a mile track. With one of the finest straightaways here on the finish and back stretches, in the country, sensational spurts are due.

The fact that they are anxious to make a showing here with the hopes of getting return engagements will weigh heavily in the class of their riding. From here, they will go to compete in the big race at Syracuse, N. Y.

All riders will reach here Saturday morning and will spend the balance of the day in the city. The track will be dragged Saturday morning to get it in best of condition for the events. It will be covered with a coating of calcium chloride to lay the dust.

"Tim" Luby of Janesville, at one time an announcer with Ringling brothers circus, will be official announcer. Jim Clark, referee, will bring a starter with him from Milwaukee.

35 Answer Call on Fort Gridiron

Fort Atkinson.—Thirty-five padded youthful warriors have appeared upon the Fort Atkinson gridiron in response to the first call of the season for football practice. While some of the old stars of last season's team are among the missing there is plenty of promising new material to assure the fans of a team that will make things interesting in football for neighboring towns of this section.

The Fort has a number of open dates and would like to hear from teams of the section relative to a schedule. The open dates are as follows: Sept. 29, Oct. 26, Nov. 10, 17, and 29.

Apple, Ball Hit for Ace by Edgerton Golf Tutor while playing in a match with L. H. Towne and Will McIntosh, Wednesday. He negotiated the 190-yd. seventh hole at the local club in one, the first on the local course since its beginning.

Fifteen minutes later, while playing the same hole with George Blashard, city attorney, who had Clarence C. Abanderth, Edgerton High school coach several holes down in the first round of the club championship, he decided to stop his dead rattle mangle against the sides of a hardy apple. The apple was in his path on the fairway, some 40 yards from the green. Flying through the air, the apple evidently decided not to be put down by a mere golf ball, so it steered itself onto the green and into the hole. Forty yards with an apple for an ace. Some shot!

Edgerton, a hole in one with a golf ball and a hole in one with an apple on the same hole on the same afternoon by the same man is an unusual happening. The professional at the Edgerton Country club, Earl T. Jacobson, did it.

HIGH PRICES, LOW WAGES, IN NORWAY

Conditions Bad in Scandinavian Country Says Local Woman After Visit.

The U. S. A. and home looked good to Mrs. M. E. Palmer, 439 Logan street, when she arrived in this city last week from a trip to her old home in Norway. She left here May 5, and spent the time visiting her parents, scenes of her childhood, and taking a two months' trip through the beautiful mountains of her native country.

"Conditions in Norway now are bad," Mrs. Palmer said "and I was rather disappointed. I had not been to that country since I was 14 and then things were much different. Almost everybody is hard-up, especially the farmers, and taxes are so high that much discontent is evident. Wages are very low; in fact, the highest salary for laborers now is $1.75 per day, while the average is much lower. And in spite of this living expenses are as high or higher than in this country. Hotel room expenses are just the same as in Janesville, and it costs more to eat than in the large metropolitan hotels of America. No dinner can be purchased for less than $1.50, and even at that price their dinners do not approach, in quantity and quality, those obtainable in America for two-thirds the price.

"While Norway was not an active participation in the war, it affected her very much. This is because she exports so little and imports practically everything. One of the great industries of the country is fishing, and many fish are exported. All building wood, and wood used for furniture is imported from America, although the industry ranking at most second is lumbering. The lumber is of a poorer grade, though, and is mostly pine. Even foodstuff is imported."

According to Mrs. Palmer's observations, there are three reasons why the farmer is not prospering. One is because land is so high and expensive that a person can possess a farm only the size of an American pasture. Another is because tractors and modern implements are used so little, and the third is because of the lack of young people.

Young People Leaving.
"On the boat Stavanger from which I returned, there were 1,000 young people who had embarked at Christiania for America. This boat was a large one carrying 1,900 passengers."

Mrs. Palmer's parents lived at Hindland, a small farming village but 40 miles from Christiania, the largest city and capital of the country. Both parents were in rather ill health, and her father died three weeks after her arrival at her old home. Her mother and three brothers are now at home and are considering a trip to this country in the spring.

Mrs. Palmer has an unusual tale of early life. She lived at home until 14, and then, lured by tales of America and its glories, she left home, and, all alone, came to America. This is the first time she has been back since.

Automobiles Are Scarce.
"Most of the country is mountainous, covered with lines, or where they are higher, just bare stone. During the last two months I was in Norway, I did nothing but travel, spending most of the time in the high mountains. I stayed at mountain hotels and thoroughly enjoyed myself. One especially enjoyable trip was taken in auto, in which we covered all of 12 miles—but Norwegian miles, which are seven times the length of English miles. There are not many automobiles in the country, because they are so high priced and gasoline is so high—just double the American price. Only in the larger cities are seen the shiny motors that are seen in every American town.

Days Long and Cold.
"It was cold all the time I was over there. My folks live right on the edge of a lake, but I could not go swimming, the air and water were so cold. One day it was 42 degrees Centigrade, or about half that on our thermometers, and the people suffered, it was so warm. Most of the time it was extremely cold, and especially so at night. There was still snow on the ground when I got there in May. But people there say it is colder than for many years."

"It took me some time to get used to so much daylight. The sun would set at 11 o'clock and would come up again at three in the morning, in May, so that there was no darkness at all. It would be dark for a while and then up would come the sun. In later weeks, and just before I left, they were having darkness between midnight and two o'clock. I meant to go to Hammarfest to see the midnight sun, but was unable to. After a while, one becomes accustomed to so much daylight and can sleep as usual. Many times, it is a great advantage."

EMPLOY MANY WORKERS
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington — Class one railroads operating about 90 percent of the country's mileage, employed more workers in June than in any other month since November, 1920 the Interstate Commerce commission statistics showed.

SCHOOL TEACHERS and STUDENTS

If you are leaving Janesville to take up your duties in some other locality, do not fail to make arrangements to keep in daily touch with your friends and relatives at home.

Of course you will receive letters from them, but all their letters combined cannot begin to tell you the news. There will be many little social functions that you will want to know about in detail, items about your friends and people you know, as well as many things of importance to Janesville:

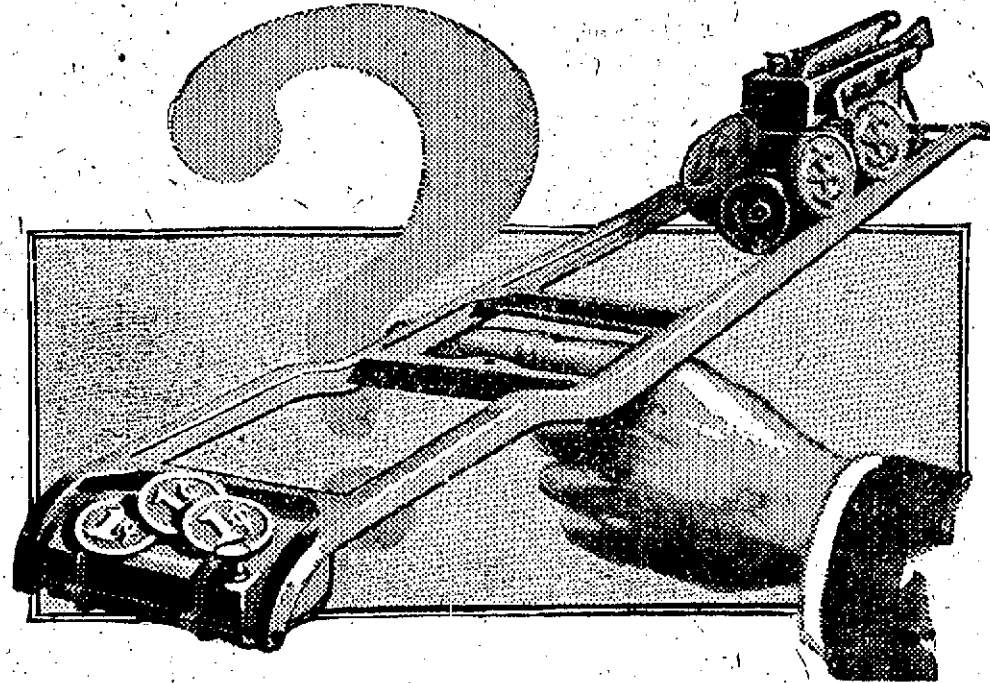

The simplest and most complete arrangement that you can make is to have the Gazette sent to you for the school period. You can place your order over the phone or send in the attached coupon, and your paper will be started on any date you wish. Do this now, before the last-minute rush and you will be sure of enjoying a newsy chat with Janesville every day you are away.

You may send me the Gazette for months, starting 1923.

Which End Weighs the Cost?

KEEP your eye on the real business end of your car when you are comparing gas costs.

Poor, kerosenish motor fuel likes nothing better than to direct your attention to fancied savings at the tank end, while you forget the penalty that must be paid at your motor.

Mighty shortsighted saving when you figure the final cost in racking shocks of misses and bumpy explosions, the power-eating deposits of carbon and the destructive drip of raw kerosene into your lubricating oil. Only genuine, straight run.

Wadham's True Gasoline

can represent real saving and real conservation of your motor. It costs a little more per gallon but pays it back by the mile and season, in better running, freedom from misses and carbon, and immunity from lubrication danger through drippage of kerosene. It returns full value in better daily running and ultimate motor condition.

PLAN REROUTING ON HIGHWAY 20

Concrete Work Started West of City; Engineers Making Surveys.

While concrete construction work has been started on route 20 west of the city, engineers have also been making surveys and obtaining engineering data for the rerouting of the road out of Footville north of Orfordville to the county line. Whether the road will be built through Orfordville depends on what action the village authorities take in obtaining a right-of-way through the village.

About four of the first five miles on 20 have been graded and the concrete started on Pleasant street, the force laying 500 feet Wednesday. The gravel machinery is being operated on the Fisher Brothers' farm, a half mile off the road. Weather conditions will determine whether the county can complete the first five miles this season as authorized by the county board.

Two Contractors Busy. It is expected that the Clintonville concrete road on highway 61 will be completed this season. Two contractors are working, one in Rock and the other in Walworth county. The road is being built in sections, the contract to complete the work from Clinton to the county line and have been working about two weeks on construction. There is four miles of the road out of Footville, it is likely that the road will go through part of the Hanover marsh.

The proposed route is to take the railroad tracks to join with the present route 20 at section 16 and thence into Brodhead.

Marsh Drain Planned. The road can be routed through Orfordville but the village must furnish the right of way. It was stated Thursday at the office of the county highway commissioner.

Surveys show that little trouble will be experienced in building the road across one part of the marsh. The road will be built in sections, the contract to complete the work from Clinton to the county line and have been working about two weeks on construction. There is four miles of the road out of Footville, it is likely that the road will go through part of the Hanover marsh.

An effort will be made to have the Milwaukee road through Johnston center put on the state trunk system. This, it is believed, will connect with the concrete road 61 to Milwaukee at East Troy via the present county trunk "A" road, a short route. It is tentatively assumed that the old Madison-Beloit road through Spring Valley Corners will be added to the state trunk system under recent legislation which may add of 2,500 miles to the state system.

The adding of state trunk line roads is for the purpose of dividing up of traffic. County road officials declare that at some future time county trunk "A" will be a permanently improved road.

Shouldering Near Finish. The shouldering work on route 20

NO JAPANESE IN CITY; TWO WHO WERE HERE, GONE

There are no Japanese in Janesville mourning the death of a relative victim in the terrible catastrophe which has struck that country, or in doubt about folks back home, for the simple reason that there are no Nipponese in Janesville. Janesville and the chop suey house use Chinese help and have, except for a time some months ago, when there were two Japanese in the city. They, however, have left now.

Some of the Chinese in the city expressed their regret over the tragedy and also expressed sympathy for their neighbors of their home country.

One, knowing only a few words of spoken English and unable to read the language, did not know of the earthquake, typhoon and attendant fires which have destroyed thousands and thousands of people. When it was told him, with much gesture, he explained what an earthquake was, and some idea of the many people killed, he was incredulous.

out of Janesville to Evansville will be completed within a week. The improved stretch in Evansville to the railroad tracks will be completed shortly, for the contractors are pouring the unfinished side of the road, one half being open for travel.

Considerable gravel work has been completed in Rock county and other jobs well under way, according to Commissioner Moore.

The routing of 20 north of Orfordville may present a new angle to the old county board issue. The road authorities have agreed on the road route to the north of the village in the event a right-of-way is not obtained through the village. Orfordville residents have been eager to have the road through the village, making many appeals to the board of supervisors in behalf of the old route. One land owner is reported to have demanded $5,000 as damages for the road to cross his property in the village. The road officials made plain that it was up to Orfordville as to which route may be followed next year when construction work is continued on highway 20 to Brodhead.

There is a growing carelessness on the part of postoffice patrons in advising mail, according to the national postoffice department and verified by Postmaster J. J. Cunningham as to local conditions. For this reason, the department has issued a large poster of instructions which has been placed on the lobby wall of the local office. Its advice are:

1. Print or write legibly the complete name, post-office, state, street and number. In lieu of street and number, the address may be a post-office box or a rural route. In any event, write the most complete address available.
2. Avoid abbreviations which may be confusing or misleading, such as "Cal" which might easily be taken for "Col." "Miss" often taken for "Minn." or "Mass."
3. Put the name and address of the sender in the upper left corner.
4. If a complete address is not available, use the best one obtainable, and add description that is liable to aid postal officials. These

ARM BROKEN, GIRL SCOUT RESCUES BOY

St. Paul—With one arm trailing helplessly, broken at the wrist, 15-year-old Sylvia Rosenthal, a St. Paul Girl Scout, swam several hundred feet to the rescue of an 11-year-old boy in White Bear lake yesterday.

The boys' parents and uncle witnessed the rescue. Their praise she dismissed with: "It was nothing; swimming is not difficult for me."

The plan is working successfully, Mr. Cunningham declares, and he will soon offer plants other means of hurrying mail.

Alabama Mayor Says Tanlac Restored His Health.

Judge G. W. Thomason, Mayor of Tallapoosa City, Alabama, widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen, recently gave his unqualified endorsement to the Tanlac treatment.

"Chronic indigestion brought me to the verge of a general breakdown three years ago," said Judge Thomason, "and nothing seemed to afford much relief. I was eating scarcely enough to keep going on, and food stayed in my stomach like a rock, causing pain and extreme nervousness. Sleep was often impossible, and I gradually weakened so I could hardly attend to my office duties.

"The first bottle of Tanlac improved my appetite and digestion wonderfully. My nervousness disappeared and I rested better at night. Each successive bottle gave added impetus to my returning strength, and I felt ten years younger when I finished the sixth bottle a short time later. Tanlac gave me new zest in life that still remains with me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. (Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.)
